Oh encryption probably already been broken. But, I sure don't care. I have a DVD player and it is fantastic. Better picture than LD (I have 2 players) and sound equal to the best audio now available (yes, I have DTS both music and video.) Sure, its not perfect or as good as film....but it has instantly made all existing formats obsolete. DVD is the perfect transition to HDTV technology.

The real question is how long before the DVD encryption scheme is broken?

My initial guess was July 4, 1997.
